The CCBADC

The California Certification Board of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors (CCBADC) exists to enhance the quality of substance abuse services in California by certifying substance abuse professionals.

Through the establishment of a certification process for prevention specialists, the CCBADC seeks to define the essential role and functions of the prevention specialist in the chemical dependency continuum of care. This professional credential offers guidance to employers and consumers in the selection of prevention specialists and conversely provides the prevention specialist with the tool for marketing his or her unique skills and competence.

It is the belief of the CCBADC that demonstration of certain requisite knowledge and skills is related to the quality of services to the consumer. Thus, the California prevention specialist certification process is based upon specific measurable competencies. In addition to demonstrating the knowledge and skill competencies described herein, applicants must also meet established education and experience requirements.

Definition

A prevention specialist is a professional who uses a specialized set of knowledge, experience, training and skills to encourage healthy attitudes and behaviors which prevent the abuse of alcohol and other drugs. The role of the prevention specialist, as defined in the five Core Functions of the Prevention Specialist, is to empower individuals and communities to assess needs and to develop and implement strategies that effectively meet those needs.

The CCPS Manual contains information you will need to become certified, and will also be very useful after the certification process. Please keep this handbook to use as a referral source.

Purpose

The establishment of standards and a system of voluntary professional certification assures the opportunity for continued growth and development for prevention specialists in the chemical dependency field. The purpose of the prevention certification process includes but is not limited to:

1. To promote credibility of prevention professionals;
2. To assure the public of a minimal level of competency in prevention services;
3. To promote the delivery of competent, professional prevention services;
4. To establish a recognized credential of professional competency which will allow for national reciprocity;
5. To establish guidelines for new prevention specialists; and
6. To promote continued professional development for the prevention specialist.

CORE FUNCTIONS (Domains) OF THE PREVENTION SPECIALIST

The following table outlines the recommended minimum knowledge base requirements for the California Certified Prevention Specialist. Disciplinary and Appeal Procedures

Purpose:

This process is to be used to adjudicate complaints that have been found to be irreconcilable through other means. Prior to employing this process, persons are encouraged to attempt to resolve the situation through other means. If these means fail or do not satisfactorily resolve the circumstances, the ethical review process may be the appropriate vehicle for addressing the complaint.

Authority of the Ethical Review Board (ERB)

The convened Ethical Review Board (ERB) has the authority to: investigate a complaint, mediating when possible; determine the validity of the complaint; conduct a hearing on valid complaints; recommend a disposition on a valid complaint to the Certification Board; and dismiss invalid complaints.

Rules & Policy

The ERB has access to relevant files of Certified Prevention Specialist's in the CAADAC office. The respondent and complainant will be notified that the ERB has opened their files and for what purposes. The ERB may not meet or take action without the presence of a quorum. Three voting members shall constitute a quorum. All information and communications pertaining to the ethical review process shall be held confidential by CCBADC Board members, ERB members and all staff members. The ERB may request a continuance on the time frames from the Certification Board. The ERB may grant continuances to the complainant/respondent. In the event the complainant withdraws the complaint, the ERB reserves the right to proceed to consider the circumstance in the interest of the profession.

Basis of Complaint:

Complaints may be filed against a certified preventionist or an applicant to the CCBADC administered certification system for a violation of the Code of Ethics of the certified preventionist.

Any individual may file a complaint against a certified prevention specialist or against someone seeking certification by submitting a written complaint, which includes:

1. The full name and address of the complainant;
2. The full name, address and telephone number of the respondent; and

Sacramento, CA 95827

Once a complaint has been filed with the CCBADC board, no one must attempt to influence members of the board on the issue outside the official procedures allowed for the ethical review process.

Handling of the Ethical Complaint:

Once a written complaint is received by the chairperson of the Certification Board, the chairperson or his/ her designate will determine if it has been filed in the proper form. This determination will be made within three (3) working days of the date of receipt of the written complaint by the chairperson.

If the complaint has not been filed in the proper form, it shall be returned to the complainant with an explanation of why the complaint was not accepted and with recommendations of what is necessary to bring the complaint into compliance with CCBADC rules.

If the complaint has been filed in the proper form, the Chairperson of the Certification Board will appoint an ERB and the Certification Board will appoint a Certification Board Liaison to it. The complaint will be transmitted to this Board within fifteen (15) days of the receipt of the complaint.

The ERB will acknowledge; in writing, to the complainant the receipt of the complaint. The ERB shall meet within thirty (30) days of the receipt of the complaint. The purpose of this meeting will be to determine if the complaint merits consideration and investigation. The parties' right to be present will apply ONLY to the formal hearing. The ERB will notify the complainant, in writing, if the complaint is found to be of merit or if the complaint has been dismissed, within ten (10) days of its findings. Upon receipt of this written statement, the ERB will determine if the complaint merits further investigation or dismissal.

In the written statement, the respondent may choose to indicate that he/she does not plan to contest the complaint and may waive the right to a hearing. In such instance, the Board will recommend a disposition and remand the case to the Certification Board for action within thirty (30) days of the receipt of the respondent's written statement to the ERB. If no written response is received, and/ or if the respondent refuses to cooperate with the ERB, the Board may rule in favor of complaint.

Hearing Procedure:

The hearing shall be convened at a time and place reasonable convenient to the respondent, complainant, and the ERB. The complainant and respondent shall be notified in writing of the date, time, and location of the hearing. The complainant and respondent also shall be notified of their rights in relation to the hearing. These rights include: the right to be present and to present evidence; the right to have witnesses present; the right to cross-examine; and the right to be represented by counsel at one's own expense; the right to file a notarized written statement in lieu of appearing at the hearing; the right to request a postponement or a rescheduling of hearing; and the right to be notified of the outcome of the hearing process and to be notified of the disposition of the complaint. Parties may request that a record verbatim (transcript) be taken of the hearing. The party making the request, however, must bear the expense of having that record taken. All written materials related to the complaint shall be maintained in the CCBADC office. Failure of the complainant to appear or participate in the hearing may result in the dismissal of the complaint.

The ERB may invite additional parties to the hearing. These parties should be restricted to individuals who have first-hand knowledge of the situations that led to the complaint. If the Board makes such requests for attendance, CCBADC will bear the expense of travel costs for those individuals.

The ERB reserves the right to interview other persons in reference to the complaint. If the appeal request is denied by the Appeal Committee, the person making the appeal request is informed of his/her right to take the appeal directly to the full Board of Directors, against the advice of the Appeal Committee. The person making the appeal request shall notify the chairperson of CCBADC of a subsequent appeal request within thirty (30) days of the notification of the Appeal Committee Decision.
